H. Peter Hendley
1944-2004

H. Peter Hendley, 60, of Nashua

Died May 14, 2004 at Speare Memorial Hospital in Plymouth following a brief bout with cancer. Peter was born on February 24, 1944 in Greenwich, Conn. the son of the late Benjamin and Thelma Hendley. He resided in Connecticut until he and his family moved to New Hampshire in the late 1980s. While in Connecticut he was a self employed contractor and carpenter who enjoyed remodeling. He later became a top insurance salesperson for Golden Rule in New Hampshire. Family members include two sons, Justin Hendley of Thornton, and John Hendley of Nashua; and one sister, Joy Hendley of Connecticut. The Cremation Society of New Hampshire is in charge of arrangements. To view the online memorial, send a condolence, get directions or for more information, go to www.csnh.com

From Bill Shockley:

It is always sad to hear that a classmate, friend and person you grew up with passed away. Peter enjoyed life every day and I hope he did not suffer in the end. It was not until I read his obit that I was jolted by the knowledge that we shared a birthday. Why him, now, how different were our genes, our lives, our habits, our faith, and Lord, I can eat only so much broccoli and oatmeal yet I long to live and be alive and healthy and happy - and I won't eat cauliflower no matter what. So long Squirrel - you were undeniably a part of the fabric that made up the class of '62, GHS. Rest In Peace.

From Susan Dennison: (When asked if she knew of the Location of Joy Hendley (Peter's Sister)

Last I knew and according to your class list she is Joy Brocking (husband Bob) and lives in Darien? The Hendleys lived on Bertolf Road behind Caldors in Riverside when we were in High School.

(Editor's Note: Joy Hendley Brocking can be found on Yahoo People Search under Robert Brocking in Darien CT.)

Anniversary Issue

364 days ago I started the WW-N-W Newsletter with stories from Ken Bennett, Lucille Biase Ball, Ron Brander, Sharon Brown Fortunato, Malu (Marylou) Eickmeyer Coe, Robert Fortunato, Peter Hens, Kent Remington, Suzi Smith Lynch, Clark Sorensen, Kathie Temple Azoff, Joann Tripodi Loparco and the "Greatest" Great Grandma Marsha Washington Gilmore. That's a pretty impressive list and I want to thank each and everyone of them for having started something that I have grown to really relish on my Sunday Afternoons, in the study (that's what I call my son's room) on the second floor overlooking a peaceful suburban street.

So break out the Moët or a Coke, or go for what the French refer to a "Gazzoleene" and add some hard stuff to the coke. Raise the glass high and wish us the greatest of decades as we collectively race headlong into our Sixties. I don't know a better "Class" of People, to do it with. Thank you each and everyone of you.

I am living and working in Bristol, RI; a charming, colonial, seacoast town, halfway between Providence & Newport. Working as the town's Director of Community Development, after getting a degree in city planning, and after 2 similar jobs in Massachusetts. Before that, served 2 years in the Army, one in Vietnam. Now married, and living with 2 wire haired fox terriers. Any news on the whereabouts of Joe Cross and Tom Shaw ?

(Editor's Note: I asked Peter about whether the severe weather had an impact on him up in the Mountains of SC and he wrote back... One Year Later... Just Joking, but he is here for the Anniversary Issue)

We are 1050 feet above sea level, 250 feet above Lake Keowee, with a clear view of Mt Pisgah, 30 miles distant and 5,164 feet above sea level. All to tell you that we sit on a foothill ridge looking north into the Blue Ridge Mountains. We like to think that we live under a protective weather dome here. Most nasty stuff either goes north east up and over the Appalachians to New York and beyond or below us toward Columbia, Raleigh and the Carolina coast. Hurricanes never make it this far inland. One of our favorite things to do is sit in a rocker late afternoon or early evening watching thunderstorms travel through the mountain just north of us putting on a light show. You need to see for yourself next time you find yourself between Charlotte and Atlanta with nothing better to do...

This is the eMail that sparked the response:

Thanks for your compliments and of course the invitation to "Hit the Mats". It was way back in the beginning that you first said... I had a sandwich named after me... well we are approaching the First Anniversary of the WW-N-W Newslatters and the "Sandwich" is still going... "ghs1962reunion" is an account under "BigMac2AllBeef" and I haven't changed either... Up there in the Mountains, do you have worse storms than those of us near the water?... the past two weeks have been an experience... I would imagine it's really scary up there during these stormy seasons... Little Mac

On the Trail with the Posse

Nancy SCHMIDT Lambert . Somerset . CO
rgdmtn@aol.com

Since Jane had the last name of Benjamin in High School, she got to go ahead of Nancy for those years, today we turn it around, as Lambert now appears in the alphabet before Sheen.

Jane BENJAMIN Sheen . St. Thomas . VI
jbsheen@islands.vi

But these two wonderful persons, have been quite successful in generating a large portion of the "Missing Persons" in our Directories. Their latest mission is to find class members from prior and latter years that were a part of the Senior Chorus. Of course, this is directly related to the Senior Chorus Project and a great lead-in to the last article of today's WW-N-W. However, I thought it would be a good thing to open our "doors" to all who wish to join our fast growing network of GHS Classes of the 60's... We have among us several from the other years already, and many of you have siblings that are 1, 2 or 3 years ahead or behind us at GHS, who may want to join us in an electronic reunion. Currently, the Senior Chorus Albums are on sale at $29.95 per set of 4 CD's. The following is an interchange from Nancy and Jane, received today.

From Jane:

I found these in the 2001 Directory.

Bud Titsworth - budt@optonline.net

Marilyn Woliston Elzey - melzey1013@netscape.net

Cindi King Ferraro - cifer@aol.com

From Nancy:

Ok, I sent the same email to Bud Titsworth, Marilyn Woliston and Cindi King from the class just above us - but I'm operating at the disadvantage of having been in the audience - not in the chorus - so I don't automatically recognize the names of the people I should be trying to reach. If one of you singin' folks would scan the Classmates lists and pick out some more names to send mail to I'd be mighty obliged. (I think this means you, Bob)

From Jane:

If you haven't already discovered it, the GHS 2001 Directory gives an email for Judy Niman Moretti
putshell@aol.com

I don't find an email for Betsy Anthony Woodfine, but her phone is 203-324-1001, if you want to go that route.

From Nancy:

Lest you think I've dropped off the face of the earth, I just wanted to tell you that I finally had a response to an email from Dave Howe of the class of '60 and he gave me the names of two of the organizers of their latest class reunion. I wrote to Judy Niman Moretti and asked her if she has a relatively current mailing list for their class and will let you know as soon as I hear something from her. Betsy Anthony Woodfine is the other name he mentioned, but I didn't see her on the Classmates list, so I'll just keep my fingers crossed for Judy. Heading back to Classmates to try to search out some familiar names in the class of '61.

So all of you can participate in the "Posse"... look deep into your "Address Books", we can use as much help as we can get. They don't necessarily have to be persons who were members of the Chorus.

If you look at this photo, beside Yankowich and Patrick, everyone else is from another year. There's Fran Mullin and Kenny Bozak... Vanneman

The Senior Chorus Project

It was a very rainy Friday in New York City, and the rain was one that set your brow to sweating, even in air-conditioned space due to the ambient humidity on everyone around you, but the atmosphere was a different kind of place. The term "Fancy" would befit the restaurant that was chosen by Vince Pantas, to treat Penny Haymes Cox and yours truly... to a magnificent luncheon off the Garden at The Tavern on the Green, Central Park and 67th Street. For those of you who may not be familiar with this place... It is one of those restaurants, where a person lives in the men's wash room and turns on the faucets when you head to the sinks... and hands you a cloth towel to dry your hands... There is a dish on the sink counter that has more money than your wallet and you wonder if you should tip him too little, he will come to the table and tell everyone what you did in the "john".

Now you all are probably wondering, how can we be “partying” on the “big bucks” that are being generated by the sales of the CD’s... let me put your mind at ease and publicly thank Vince Pantas for his generosity and the selection of a truly fine place to have a “small but marvelous” reunion and business lunch for the Senior Chorus Project. We actually conducted business along with a review of the artwork prepared by Penny. We are very near production, all we await are the last of the CD’s from Maryland. And most importantly, a “Title for the Collection”. So as the culmination of the “First Year” of the WW-N-W Newletters, comes to a close, we pose the request:

Name the Senior Chorus Project 4 CD Set

We are seriously looking for a title that is succinct and carries a level of emotion that will pinpoint these years of the music and the camaraderie and family-like aura that came with being a part of the more than 100 persons that composed the chorus.

The McAfee Collection

James McAFEE . Richmond . VA
james.mcafee@rich.frb.org

On Thursday I received the following news-clipping along with several other news-clippings from James McAfee. Luckily, he had them sent in adequate time to give a copy of each to Penny Haymes Cox for use in the frontispiece of the CD Sets. Our thanks go out to Jim for his marvelous Collection and the perfect timing under which it arrived.

First Concert Today—Members of the Greenwich High School Senior Chorus, seen here boarding their chartered airliner at Newark Airport on Friday evening, arrived two hours ahead of schedule at Vienna on Saturday, tired and hungry, but otherwise without any serious hitch. One girl forgot her passport on the bus that took the chorus from Greenwich and a New Jersey State Trooper was sent after the returning bus to retrieve it. Cablegrams and telephone calls from Vienna indicated the plane arrived safely after a trip across most of Europe at low altitude, which afforded members a good view of several cities. The chorus et... Its first concert today for the President of Austria.

The Senior Chorus Project

That's right, the day has arrived, The Four (4) CD Set of the GHS Senior Chorus Recordings is almost ready for the final Production and Packaging and will be available at the middle to end of June. Currently, Three CD's have masters and corresponding back-ups in our Pennsylvania Production Facility under "lock and key" with Vince Pantas. Graphics are nearing completion and a meeting has been scheduled for next week in the Big Apple for the transfer of the originals and a reunion lunch with Penny and Vince. The last recordings to be reproduced into CD Format should have arrived in Maryland this week. But all that is just the "Eyew ash on the Cake", let's get down to the business of "Sales"
