A Coda Long Overdue

The 112-voice Senior Chorus of the Greenwich (Connecticut) High School—the most advanced of the seven choral organizations at the school—has performed at many concerts and television broadcasts. Members are chosen by audition from among sophomore, junior and senior year students.

As a result of its appearance at the National Conference of Music Educators in Atlantic City earlier this year, the Senior Chorus was invited to represent the High Schools of America at the Fourth International Conference on the Role and Place of Music in the Education of Youth and Adults, to be held in Vienna, Austria next June. Following the Vienna performance, the group will give concerts in Salzburg, Innsbruck, Zurich, Stuttgart, Heidelberg, Cologne and Paris.

PARIS APPLAUDS U.S. SCHOOL CHORUS

Special to The New York Times
 PARIS, July 15—The Greenwich (Conn.) High School senior chorus ended a three-week European tour here today with a warmly-received concert at the headquarters of the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

In the parkly modern setting of one of UNESCO's large conference halls, the 112-voice choir played its vocal program of eight hours.

After the concert, the chorus members were to be the youngsters' first...

A CODA LONG OVERDUE

Deep River tells the story of Joshua at the River Jordan while De-Animals vividly portrays the story of Noah and his Ark.

"Here's animals an' animals... Yes, Lawd! De animals a-comin', one by one... De animals a-comin', two by two... De animals a-comin', three by three," etc.

In the lively spiritual De Animals, there is a syncopated rhythm. In syncopation the accent is shifted to the unaccented part of a measure, like this:

The Senior Chorus has become an established part of our community. The goal of the majority of the students in the vocal department of Greenwich High School is to become a member of Senior Chorus. This outstanding group is composed of the finest musicians and voices in the school. This year, under the direction of Mr. Mock, the chorus has received national honor by performing for the Music Educators' National Conference Convention at Atlantic City, with one number, "The Heavens Declare God's Glory."

Penny has been busily working on the design for the Insert of "A Coda Long Overdue", but found the time to send us contact information for her sister Candy, the photo of Candy comes to us from Gene Davino's "invisible" attic.

Candy is another member in our Expansion Pack from the years 1960 through 1964, so let's go gang... "turn in" your Siblings... tell them how much "fun" you are having and let them get to see what we are doing... They might just want to join in. Also, today is a very special day, for at least one of the people on this "Page". She has made the step over the line into the start of her 61st year... Congratulations... Happy Going Sixty.

Picnic at the Point

PIZZA & RESTAURANT

The planning for the picnic continues having had the meeting with the Pizza Ladi at her restaurant in Wilton CT. Tom E Toes, which is going to be the "Night Before" for those who are in Town and those around the area.

The dining room shown below and to the left, is magnificent and features Venetian Glass Sconces along the walls and a marvelous row of arched French doors to the exterior. There is a terrace for dining and another for smoking and cell phone "use".

JoAnn Tripodi Loparco is joining forces with the Steering Committee and will help us finding the suppliers for the magnificent menu, that George Devol has come up with... The event is taking shape and we are getting a lot of feedback about the "attendance", which has blossomed over the last few weeks. The responses to the "Pesky eMails" has been good and these are the current statistics:

Total Responses to Date: 95 out of 450+

Total on the eMail List still not responding: 78

Total declined or not coming: 41

Total Coming (including others in their parties): 81 and Growing

Total Maybes: 10

We are getting closer to the estimated 100+ possible Attendees and will develop our planning around that number. Thank you to All for Helping us in our planning effort.
